Abstract: Replace with the following new abstract:

A portable, extremity-attachable device for dispensing skin treatment comprises a deformable housing having a skin treatment reservoir that is caused to dispense such treatment upon squeeze actuation. A set of valves permit proper operation of the device with different modes of use. Embodiments include a simple deformable, wrist-mounted device and a pumped based device with a rigid housing.

CLAIMS:

28. - 46. (CANCELED)

47. (NEW) An extremity-attachable device for storing and discharging skin treatment material, said device comprising in combination:

- a) a reservoir containing said skin treatment material;
- b) squeeze actuation means;
- c) inlet port means;
- d) outlet port means;
- e) inlet flow control means;
- f) outlet flow control means; and
- g) extremity attachment means,

said device capable of releasing an amount of said skin treatment material through said outlet port means when said actuation means is used, said inlet flow control means sealing said inlet port means during squeeze actuation for dispensing of said skin treatment material and said outlet flow control means sealing said outlet port means when said device is not squeeze actuated.
